

Meeting Notes
Zack, Julie and Isak
Monday August 11, 15:15 CEST / 9:15 EST

1 Discussion Topics

- Went over the revised spreadsheet, and tested a sample entry.
 - Divided it into four sections (kind, authorship, topics, methodology).
 - Simplified process for annotating gender of authors in multi-authored works.
 - Methodologies need to be brainstormed.
 - * Although the scopes are quite different, Zack mentioned his list of tags for open-archaeo as one potential resource to from from.
- Discussed challenges with the citation networks.
 - Addressed by github issue with the Grobid maintainers.
 - Addressed some workarounds:
 - * Doing some topic modelling / NLP / machine learning based on the titles of papers.
 - * Linking up with Alex Brandsen, who has done similar very similar work (Brandsen 2023).

2 Action Items

Next meeting: Thursday August 21, 15:15 CEST / 9:15 EST

Focus will be on brainstorming the methodology, as well as general status updates.

Zack:

- Invite Alex Brandsen to our next meeting.
- Inquire about using md.archaeo.dev for collaborative brainstorming. about archaeo md
- Post about the challenges of working with scholarly metadata.

Isak:

- Finish collecting the PDFs and cleaning the data pertaining to books and book chapters.

Julie:

- Draw up initial list of methodology categories.
- Follow up with admin re: hiring an RA.

3 Links and references

- <https://md.archaeo.dev>
- <https://github.com/zackbatist/open-archaeo/blob/master/tags.md>
- <https://github.com/kermitt2/grobid/issues/1322>
- https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-031-37156-1_11

Brandsen, Alex. 2023. “Information Extraction and Machine Learning for Archaeological Texts.” In Discourse and Argumentation in Archaeology: Conceptual and Computational Approaches, edited by Cesar Gonzalez-Perez, Patricia Martin-Rodilla, and Martín Pereira-Fariña, 229–61. Quantitative Archaeology and Archaeological Modelling. Cham: Springer International Publishing. https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-031-37156-1_11.